

Oman Cables Industry (SAOG) introduces Five Day Week

Oman Cables Industry has introduced a Five Day Week for all its employees, the aim is to reduce work pressure and to improve quality of family life, without impairing the operational efficiency of the company and the service to our customers.

The new work pattern will be effective from 1st February 2010. Under the new pattern the company will work from Saturday to Wednesday and will maintain Thursday and Friday as weekend.

Mr. Fawzi Mubarak, General Manager – Human Resources & Administration said that the new work pattern is a win-win situation both for the company and employees and expect to have a positive impact on our employees and on our productivity. Further, this is an on-going effort to create a family-friendly working environment that gives the employees a healthier work-life balance. The five day work week will enable employees to spend valuable time with family members, especially to our Omani employees who are travelling to their villages during weekends.
